ATTENTION!

MICHIGAN DAIRY FARMERS!

And Now for June!

Declining prices and surplus... plus an emergency threatening all dairying and the entire economy of the state of Michigan... call for business action more than ever before by Michigan Dairy farmers this year.

To organize for this campaign the American Dairy Association of Michigan has been given the responsibility of raising funds. Dairy farmers support is being given to the ADA Set-Aside for May and June, with May concentrated for state activity and June for nationwide advertising, merchandising and record.

Working together through ADA—statewide and nationwide... dairy farmers are protecting their investment and building markets for a brighter future in dairying.

SHORT STORY

Infectious Laugh

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

IT WAS ETHAN PRYOR'S laugh that first attracted Abigail to him. When Ethan laughed every one else laughed. The sound had that mirthful, appealing quality that was infectious. It was good to hear. It gave you a feeling of well-being.

This all happened in 1929, when Ethan's retail antique business was netting him $15,000 a year. It was easy to laugh then. They were a jolly couple.

In 1931 Ethan's retail antique business dropped off from one-half its top amount to one-third, then to one-quarter.

That year passed and the next. The Pryors didn't find it so easy to laugh. They gave up their seven-room apartment and moved into a less expensive one. In January of 1934 they moved to a single room in an unfashionable part of the city. Ethan was barely making enough to keep them from starving.

Abigail hunted for a week and eventually won for herself a job. It wasn't much of a job. She sat behind a glass window all afternoon and evening selling tickets for a stock company performance. The stock company wasn't doing so well. It looked as though it might fold up any day. But it paid $15 a week and would have to do until she could get something better.

Inspired, a little ashamed, Ethan went job hunting himself. He hunted a week, two weeks, without success. He began to brood. Abigail did her best to cheer him up, to get him into a happy frame of mind.

"Let's hear the old laugh ring out, darling. A pleasant frame of mind is half the battle." She sat on the arm of his chair. "Tell you what. Let's celebrate. Let's take $5 and go down to Tony's. We can have a gay time for a change."

THEY WENT to Tony's. They drank wine and ate a big dinner. They danced. They sat and watched the floor show. It wasn't a bad floor show. Among other things there was a comedian. The comedian was sad. He wasn't could at least help.

Ethan laughed. It was the old time, mirthful, appealing laughter. It rolled out and filled the room. Others heard it. Others laughed. They couldn't help it. They laughed with Ethan. The comedian was inspired.

After the show a man came up and sat down at Ethan's and Abigail's table. Abigail introduced him as the owner of the stock company show where she sold tickets. His name was Jones.

"Listen," said Mr. Jones. "We'll pay you $5 a night to come and laugh at our show. It's supposed to be a funny show. You can put it across."

Ethan scratched his chin. He looked at Abigail. He said: "Well, I dunno. For $40 a week I might consider it."

"Solid!" said Mr. Jones. Ethan looked at his wife when he got home. "You planned it!" he accused.

"Sure," said Abigail. "When you have something it should be cashed in on. You can laugh your way to riches, my dear."

Times were getting better. People were buying antiques. By the beginning of 1938 he was doing quite well. That summer he enlarged his shop.

Well," said Abigail, happily, "I guess we laughed our way through that depression all right."

Ethan kissed her. Then he threw back his head and began to laugh. He laughed loud and long. "There!" he said. "That laugh isn't going to cost any one a cent. From now on I laugh because I want to and free of charge. Honey, I love you."

"Ditto," said Abigail.

School Forest Plantings Renewed

Crawford County high schools forests. The Frederic Schools planted 2,000 jack pine seedlings on their new school forest area. Grayling school is planning to plant 2,000 seedlings on their school forest.

These school forests provide an excellent laboratory for showing how to make proper use of our land that is not adapted to crops, are a big step in reforesting our cut over land.

Seventy Attend Home Extension Achievement

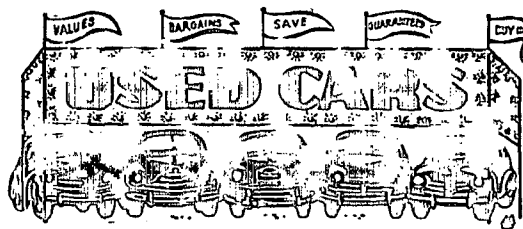

Seventy ladies attended the afternoon program of the Crawford County Home Extension Achievement Day at the Grange Hall, Grayling. Mrs. June Taylor beautifully rendered two vocal selections and accompanied herself on the piano.

The speaker of the day was Mr. H. L. R. Chapman, Extension Specialist in Horticulture from Michigan State College. Mr. Chapman spoke of varied experiences involving the collection of plants and their culture. He gave many helpful suggestions as to the care and planting of garden flowers. One thought he conveyed to the group was to plant the garden flowers so they would look natural, and not planted in actual circle or rectangular plots.

The ladies were served a delicious luncheon at the Michelson Memorial Church. Forty people attended the luncheon.

It was one believed that living human beings placed in cornerstones would ensure the stability of a building, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

18-25-1 Leo E. Lovely, County Clerk.

STATE OF MICHIGAN
In the Circuit Court for the County of Crawford
In Chancery
Charles L. Smith, Plaintiff, vs.
John O. Hadley, Emma Hadley, Gladys E. Hadley, Lewis F. March, Oscar Palmer, Nellie E. Palmer, and their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, Defendants.
Order of Appearance.
Suit pending in the Circuit Court for the County of Crawford, in Chancery, on the 9th day of May, 1959.

On reading and filing the Bill of Complaint in this cause and the affidavit of Robert F. Neafie attached thereto, from which it appears to the Court that the defendants above named, or their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees, or assigns, are proper and necessary parties defendant therein, and that after diligent search and inquiry it cannot be ascertained and is not known whether said defendants except as stated in said bill, are living or dead, and if dead, whether they have personal representatives or heirs living or where they or any of them may be, and that the names of the persons included therein without being named, but who are embraced therein under the title of unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, cannot be ascertained after such search and inquiry.

On motion of Robert F. Neafie, attorney for plaintiff, it is ordered that said defendants and their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, cause their appearance to be entered in said cause within three months from this Order, and in default thereof that said Bill of Complaint be taken as confessed by said defendants, their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, and.
It is further ordered that a copy of this Order be published in the Crawford Avalanche, a newspaper published and circulated in said county, within forty days, such publication to be continued therein once in each week for six weeks in succession.

"It's surprisin'" the old timber-looker said, "how much a man is like a tree." A rough, scaly bark sometimes covers the whitest meat, an' sometimes a smooth bark'll fool yuh, till ye get right up an' study it close enough to discover its defects. The tall pine looks down on the scrubby hemlock, the hemlock looks down on the smaller fir on the forest floor. But they all go down before the woodsman's axe, the highest with the lowest. I like to eat my lunch in the same place as long as I can when I'm on a crutis'n trek, because I can hand out crumbs an' such to small squirrels an' chickadees an' get acquainted so they'll take things out of my hand. They think I'm a bigshot an' it makes me feel good to have 'em do that. I'm just like the tall pine lookin' down on the hemlock.

Some such thoughts was runnin' through my mind as I set there at the camp fire on the edge o' Big Bear Swamp listenin' to the Injun girl Nika, tell about how she got the white papoose, named it after a potato, an' raised it as her own. An' when she got through she was cryin' an' the boy she'd raised was on his knees beside her tryin' to comfort her. She put her hand on his head. Then her arm went tight round his neck. Men round that campfire cleared their throats. "We've been talking all day," the one-legged trapper said, "and now seems to be the time to make a stand." Willie here, admits he and his brother Charlie burned the rollways to keep Breen & Halliday from getting the logs, but they got their orders from higher up. I've been trying for years to trail Willie's gang to their lair, but they've kept themselves well covered while fattening themselves on the biggest swindle this country has ever seen. With Nika's and Willie's help we'll establish this boy in his rightful place, and show up the swindlers for just what they are, and the sooner the better.

Whatever his past, Doctor Lawyer or Professor, old Easy O'Neal's rich voice rang true and sincere and proved that he had not always been a trapper. His level grey eyes sought out those of everyone about the campfire, and he received nods of approval that placed him effectively in command. "I move ye all adjourn for the night," he continued, and then there was a shot from the darkness and all was confusion. "I felt a thud in my shoulder an' was on the ground, an' so sort of dazed I couldn't think for a minute, then Johnny was draggin' me away from the fire out into the brush. When I jumped up he pulled me back down. "You crazy," he said, "you're hit." Then suddenly it was the squaw bendin' over me an' Johnny was gone. She had the boy by the arm an' was holdin' him down too. Men was thrashin' round in the brush, but there wasn't any more shots. I was sick to my stomach, but mader'n anythin' else. "Set there like bull-dog on a log round a blazin' campfire, we oughta be shot!" I said, an' the more I thought the madder I got. "Willie," the squaw said, "he's gone."

Men round that campfire cleared their throats. "We've been talking all day," the one-legged trapper said, "and now seems to be the time to make a stand." Willie here, admits he and his brother Charlie burned the rollways to keep Breen & Halliday from getting the logs, but they got their orders from higher up. I've been trying for years to trail Willie's gang to their lair, but they've kept themselves well covered while fattening themselves on the biggest swindle this country has ever seen. With Nika's and Willie's help we'll establish this boy in his rightful place, and show up the swindlers for just what they are, and the sooner the better.

Whatever his past, Doctor Lawyer or Professor, old Easy O'Neal's rich voice rang true and sincere and proved that he had not always been a trapper. His level grey eyes sought out those of everyone about the campfire, and he received nods of approval that placed him effectively in command. "I move ye all adjourn for the night," he continued, and then there was a shot from the darkness and all was confusion. "I felt a thud in my shoulder an' was on the ground, an' so sort of dazed I couldn't think for a minute, then Johnny was draggin' me away from the fire out into the brush. When I jumped up he pulled me back down. "You crazy," he said, "you're hit." Then suddenly it was the squaw bendin' over me an' Johnny was gone. She had the boy by the arm an' was holdin' him down too. Men was thrashin' round in the brush, but there wasn't any more shots. I was sick to my stomach, but mader'n anythin' else. "Set there like bull-dog on a log round a blazin' campfire, we oughta be shot!" I said, an' the more I thought the madder I got. "Willie," the squaw said, "he's gone."

TIMBER
ALES
BY PETE

"It's surprisin'" the old timber-looker said, "how much a man is like a tree." A rough, scaly bark sometimes covers the whitest meat, an' sometimes a smooth bark'll fool yuh, till ye get right up an' study it close enough to discover its defects. The tall pine looks down on the scrubby hemlock, the hemlock looks down on the smaller fir on the forest floor. But they all go down before the woodsman's axe, the highest with the lowest. I like to eat my lunch in the same place as long as I can when I'm on a crutis'n trek, because I can hand out crumbs an' such to small squirrels an' chickadees an' get acquainted so they'll take things out of my hand. They think I'm a bigshot an' it makes me feel good to have 'em do that. I'm just like the tall pine lookin' down on the hemlock.

Some such thoughts was runnin' through my mind as I set there at the camp fire on the edge o' Big Bear Swamp listenin' to the Injun girl Nika, tell about how she got the white papoose, named it after a potato, an' raised it as her own. An' when she got through she was cryin' an' the boy she'd raised was on his knees beside her tryin' to comfort her. She put her hand on his head. Then her arm went tight round his neck. Men round that campfire cleared their throats. "We've been talking all day," the one-legged trapper said, "and now seems to be the time to make a stand." Willie here, admits he and his brother Charlie burned the rollways to keep Breen & Halliday from getting the logs, but they got their orders from higher up. ## SMATHERS LETTER nice letter of May 4 and the good wishes contained therein.

We citizens of America are most fortunate that our country is a democracy in which we can think, work and speak as we choose. The people of Florida have shown by their votes on May 2 that they wish to keep this nation free for individual liberty, and have chosen the sound principles of freedom and true Americanism for which I stand.

I am deeply grateful not only to the good citizens of Florida, but also to my friends all over the nation from whom I have derived much encouragement and inspiration during this campaign. You have given me greater strength to carry out my convictions of democracy, and I shall do everything in my power to serve this great nation for the good of all of its citizens.

Thanking you again for your expression of interest, and with kindest regards, I am

Sincerely,
George Smathers.

Jevoix's Venetian Night July 30, Grand Haven's Coast Guard Festival August 1-4.

The calendar is climaxed with Cedar Spring's Red Flannel Festival, heralding opening of the traditional deer hunting season on November 15.

Jumbo sized is George Bishop's 152-page "Lure Book" of the Upper Peninsula. Development Bureau, Marquette, also recently distributed to the tourist trade.

This edition offers a detailed map of each county in Michigan's north country, beyond the Straits of Mackinac. Michigan citizens who have never visited the Soo Locks have a thrill coming. And that goes, too, for the remainder of this once-called "wilderness" area, now accessible by air as well as highway. The Copper Country and its Keweenaw peninsula and Porcupine Mountain State Park offer grandeur on a scale that surprises every traveler.

Verily, Michigan has much to offer its own citizens and recreational attractions. To beautiful peninsula, look at you!

A. C. Elmer, state park chief, reports that all 60 state parks and recreational areas will offer a combination of picnics, fishing, swimming, camping, boating, riding, stables, nature and playgrounds. Campers pay a daily fee of 50 cents beginning June 15. This fee is already charged in national parks.

Last year's park attendance a record 13,000,000. More than 5,000,000 visitors concentrated four parks—largely a matter of habit.

Get a copy of the official highway map. It contains the location of all parks and recreational areas and the highways lead there.

Michigan is a grand place for outdoor enjoyment.

As the song-writer says, "Joy yourself! It's later than think."

The American Way

The words "Michigan" and "fishing" are practically synonymous at this time of the year. And after an exciting day's fishing, it's the "American Way" to enjoy a glass of cool, refreshing Michigan brewed beer to top off the day.

For beer is the kind of beverage Americans like. It belongs to pleasant living, to good fellowship, to sensible moderation. And our right to enjoy it, this too, belongs to our own American heritage of personal freedom. Beer Belongs... Enjoy It
